Prospective Coaches,

I have had the privilege to coach Ashton Zacher for the past 4 years. As an athlete Ashton has elite abilities that he continues to build on. Zacher touches all three natural physical attributes with a solid frame, great speed and effortless arm strength. He has the ability to make this hard game of baseball look easy. He is constantly asking for ways to be better and is very coachable. Not only does he take direction, he is quick to apply what is being coached. As a competitor you won't find someone who competes and wants the tough spot more than Ashton. His ability to captain the Varsity football offense allows him to thrive on the baseball field.

As an individual Ashton is a great person with a welcoming personality. He is always polite and respectful which translates to him being an exceptional teammate and player. As a student, grades are never an issue and he excels in his advanced classes. Bottom line, he is the type of player you want 9 of on the field. Since that is not possible, he can play all 9 spots well for you on the field if needed. Which is the next best option.
